Friday 26th April 2024

On Monday this week we held the biennial whole school photograph at TPS and this event is always a poignant moment in TPS history, capturing a school generation of staff and children. It's always fascinating to look back and see how the children change so much and my colleagues remain so youthful!

In our assembly programme, we celebrated Shakespeare on Monday in honour of the Immortal Bard's birthday this week, exploring his upbringing in Stratford, his sonnets and the way in which his language is used so much today. We even had Lucas and Will trading Shakespearean insults, to the delight of everyone gathered! In Pre-Prep, Mrs Barnes focused on Earth Day, which this year focuses on the use of plastic and how detrimental waste can be to habitats and wildlife. Pre-Prep have also enjoyed two super trips this week, with Reception travelling to Bocketts Farm Park on Tuesday, seeing alpacas, guinea pigs and rabbits, not to mention cheering on pig races and even taking a tractor ride. Gunnersbury Park, a favourite destination for TPS, was the destination for Year 2, where 2L and 2H took part in workshops on Florence Nightingale and the Great Fire of London, amidst lots of dressing up and acting.

Aside from our trips, we've been really lucky to host Mrs Nadia Day, professional artist and TPS parent, who ran acrylics painting workshops for Year 4, exploring impressionism and an array of techniques she uses in her incredible artwork. The children have produced some stunning canvases as a result which I am sure will take pride of place at home! If you are interested in finding out more about her work please see here: Nadia Day Gallery Contemporary Landscape Artist Teddington Richmond

On the sports front, it's been great to witness the first rounds of fixtures for the cricket season with matches taking place for the girls and boys and some super masterclass coaching sessions, courtesy of the coaches at Kempton. We wish the best of luck to the girls tomorrow at our U11 Cricket Tournament.
